ACCOMMODATION IN FRANCE

Warning

Being registered at the university does not mean you will automatically get accommodation in a student hall.

It's imperative that you find accommodation before you arrive in France, because, by September, there will be no housing available.

What service can help me in my search for accommodation?

Look up the accommodation offers in university halls of residence on the 3 university sites: University residence (CROUS.fr).

For students participating in an exchange program:

- You may apply for student accommodation in a university residence when you apply to the university (online application).

For students who are not part of an exchange program:

- From abroad, you can directly contact the residences, on the "crous" web site, accommodation category.

What type of housing assistance can I apply for?

Attribution depends on the characteristics of your accommodation and your personal situation.

- To estimate the amount or apply: CAF.fr

Some documents are required:

- A statement from your landlord attesting your lease
- Full bank account details
- A certified French translation to your birth certificate
- If you are from a country in the European Economic Area : a national identity card or family record book or a passport or residence permit
- If you come from a country outside the European Economic Area : a currently valid residence permit (carte de séjour)

Did you know?

Renting an accommodation in France includes a number of obligations:

- To pay for a guarantee (approximately one month's rent)
- An insurance policy for renting a property (obligatory)
- The rental agency or landlord can request a rental guarantor

In France, it is possible to ask the French government to act as a guarantor when renting an accommodation.

This free service is called "VISALE".

The DRI (Direction des relations internationales) can help you with your inquiries and answer any questions you may have.
