“

I am lucky because I have a pleasure to be enrolled on European and International Business Law joint Master degree program between Mykolas Romeris University (Lithuania) and Université Savoie Mont Blanc (France) that by very nature is unique as far as despite the fact it is based in two non-native English speaking countries, it is fully in English language. EIBL responds to the market demand adapting a solid education and training to business needs and, as a result, giving a competitive advantage to the students, which is very important nowadays. The possibility to explore two countries, perfect location, opportunity to learn French and to build up strong international network are additional advantageous the program grants.
